

Exploiting the Negro.

A NEW NEGRO

St. Louis Post - Dispatch (1879-1922); Aug 2, 1922;

ProQuest Historical Newspapers: St. Louis Post Dispatch

pg. 14

Exploiting the Negro.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT was with interest I read the article, "Georgia and the K. K. K.," from the Brooklyn Eagle, in last night's Post-Dispatch. Gov. Hardwick's attitude is easily understood. The sane men of Georgia and elsewhere are easily understood; and no one understands any better than Marcus Garvey and the new negro.

To the white man of America—the South especially—the use the white man can make of the negro is to fatten his own pocketbook. Marcus Garvey's ideas seem to mightily disturb the white man's pocketbook. The foreigners that come make the good money and spend but very little. The negro makes less and spends it all with white merchants. He has little or no business of his own.

I am positive this will find no place in the Post-Dispatch or any white man's paper, as the white man is well understood by

A NEW NEGRO.