

Tuesday Forum To Note Boston's New Negro Voice

The Tuesday Public Forum, sponsored by Arlington Street Church in Boston, is presenting a weekly March program entitled, "The New Negro Voice in Boston."

The series will be launched at 8 p.m., Tuesday, with a talk by Rev. H. Carl McCall, chairman of the Roxbury Citizens Committee and director of the Blue Hill Protestant Center. Title of his speech is "The Old Voice, the New Voice, and the Next Voice."

Speakers on the following Tuesday nights will include Melvin H. King, director, Service to Youth, United South End Settlements, "The American Dream Turned Nightmare"; Louis X, minister of Muhammad's Mosque in Boston, "The Muslim and His Role in the Negro Community," and Kenneth Guscott, president, Boston branch, National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, N.A.A.C.P.—"A Second Look."

Oblate Mission Club Hat Show

The Boston Oblate Mission Club will sponsor a tea and hat show at Boston College High School next Sunday at 3 p.m. Club members will model the hats.

Mrs. Charlotte Kujunski is chairman and Rev. Thomas J. Reddy, O.M.I., is spiritual director. Officers are Miss Claire Blaney, president; Mrs. Viola Murphy, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Callahan, treasurer, and Mrs. Eilen Reardon, secretary.

ARTIST'S TOUCH

CREMONA, Italy (AP) — Giuseppe Marelli, Cremona city employee, has a painstaking hobby. He draws complicated pictures with his typewriter and sends them to friends as holiday or anniversary greeting cards. His typed pictures include dogs, children, flowers and landscapes.