

has a very wide circulation, and has stood the acid test for forty-four years. You should read the "Editorial" of Mr. E. Washington Rhodes, one who is deeply concerned in the welfare of the race. He is a fearless writer and not one catering for loaves and fish; but speaks his conviction at all times and everywhere, trying to remove the hardships and make places for our race.—"From New York District News."

"The Negro Press Supplies the Desires"

"It gives Negro writers an opportunity to write their real opinion. It digs in and gets the facts pertaining to colored people. It gives information that cannot be obtained in any other publication. It points out the successes of Negro men and women inspiring young folk to greater achievements. It strikes fear in the hearts of those who make untrue statements concerning the Negro by publishing them so that all Negroes who read may know the truth. It gives life and blood to Negro business and prevents the drying up and death of worthy Civic Organization."

The "New York District News" highly indorses the above statement which appeared in the "Philadelphia Tribune." The Negro Press has been and now is the salvation of our race. I think every colored person in Philadelphia and elsewhere should read "The Philadelphia Tribune," which
