Referring to himself as "the Negro Master Mind" Marcus Garvey head of the Black Star Line Steamship Company, of New York, made three addresses at Trinity Baptist Church, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. Mr. Garvey is also head of the Universal Negro Improvement Association which he asserted is the "most hated organization in the world." "Great Britain, United States, France and Italy," he said, "have spent millions of dollars trying to undermine this movement."

According to Mr. Garvey the Department of Justice has had official stenographers follow him all over the country for the past four years taking his speeches verbatim, typewriting them and sending them to Washington. The Government, he said, has a whole room full of nothing but Garvey speeches. On his recent visit to Jamaica, he declared, Great Britain sent two battleships to keep order.

Slams Ministers

Mr. Garvey also paid his respects to ministers and newspapers who have not fallen in with the Garvey movement. Dr. W. E. B. DuBois' statement in a recent issue of the Crisis, that the Black Star Line is "a debit to the Negro race" lead Mr. Garvey to refer to Dr. DuBois as a "big fool." "May the good Lord have mercy on him," he added.

Mr. Garvey is now under indictment on the charge of using United States mail to defraud and so no reference was made to the Black Star Line at these meetings.

"I am a new Negro," Mr. Garvey said at the beginning of his address. "I believe in a blow for a blow and an eye for an eye. I am not going to be guided by white people unless I lose my mind. My parents were dragged out of Africa and sold as slaves without having a chance to make a will. There are some people who say they have no interest in Africa, but that continent is mine by inheritance and bequest. When Africans begin to grab white men over there, then God have mercy on their souls."

Lady Henrietta Vinton-Davis urged local members of the Association to get behind the project to finish paying for the Liberty Hall recently purchased at Pennsylvania Avenue, near Mosher St.
