

NEW NEGRO ART THEATRE OPENS

NEW YORK, Nov. 26--The New Negro Art Theater, Inc., slipped into view last Monday evening quietly but firmly, when its new unit, the New Negro Art Theater choir of 35 voices made its initial performance over station WNYC on a program sponsored by the American Red Cross.

The choir sang Negro songs and spirituals, with interludes contributed by Carol Clark and Edward Walter. Katherine Varona accompanied.

Markheim resumed his duties as director for that evening.
