

When he was asked, "When he would need to go," he said, "Tomorrow." When they asked John Smith or Earl Forest when he would join the ship, replied, "Tomorrow." "Tomorrow?" It is said during a flood to skip across a road. If it does not do just the right thing, it will be forever out of season.

